Hon. O. M. Hatch was declared nominated and made the unanimous choice.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction, Has. Navion Batenas of Morgan, was declared re-naminated for re-election, he receiving 452 votes; Lawrence of Buene County, 127 votes; and Chapman of St. Clair, 19. This result in the re-nomination of State officers was repeived, with much enthusiasm, and the four candidates, Mearra. Dubois, Hatch, Butter and Rateman were called out upon the platform, a committee having been appointed to wait on them to that end. Untel Jesus came forward amid immulations cheering. He made a few brief remirks, Mr. Hatch expressed in sesse of the heaver and mark of confidence and approval thus conferred on him. Mr. Butter also responded heisely to Hon. O. M. In your issue of the 'the we have a communication from Prof. E. Connar, Astrolager, giving a method of constructing a meridian line from the Occavination of Mars, which to me appear quite unitelligible, and which the Astrolager will doubtless take pleasure in making more clear.

It is easy to conceive how two boards may he adjusted as directed, but not so easy to succeive how Mars, when on the meridian, and in close profusing to the Moon, can give a bandow on the smaller board sufficiently distinct to mark a meridian line. It seems so me that meridian line and the time greater luminary, the center of whose enlighting disk most you had not mark a meridian the time specified, and consequently its shadow would not show a meridian ine, but probably the Astrolager will explain.

and let no new sown or precinct depend upon he County Committee for the hid which should be Tound within Real! All effective or aniza-ion comes from below upward—from the own or precinct to the county, from the coun-y to the State. It is just as hard work to ort is to boil water by applying the cost at the top. It is an unnatural and forced rosess involving large expenditure and a vast mount of unnecessary labor. Our advice is his, In every School District in which three lepublicans can be found, let there be a Ren Glub, whose duty shall be the enu n of the voters and the designation of fitical preferences, the circulation of personnel documents, and alsy quiet as exposition of the baneficence of Re octrines, the creation of a belief in sity of a Republican triumph. A sentative of each school district cludd be a member of the town committee was tried. The labor which should have ly, the members of which, though is-nard and incommantly, found themselves shed by a mass of details by which ney were swamped early in the fight. These same observations will also apply in the selection of a mutable condition for your property of the property of to, soy houses magistrate to question him carefully as so the sources of his information? Did any one ever hear of this thing being done? Is it siways done now, even since the last desirion of the Supreme Court requiring it?

But the most important conclusion to be drawn from our article is one which, we presume, neither Mr. Millerd nor say one class will be disquested to question. The law is, as it now stands, a diagram to the State. It affords grant tempistion to fraudulent and oppressive practices and opens constant opportunities for the petry strylocks of the lower classes to grind their debtors to the dust. It is not the class to which Mr. Millerd refers as "dressing in fine clother and living in fine houses," who are impresented at the rate of one a week, on are imprisoned at the rate of one a week, on debts of less than tes dollars, but it is the poor and the unfortunate, who consol pay. In the r cause our sympathleans always anlisted and if is for them that we now speak. (Osrespondence of the Frem and Tribers.)

The reports of the Board of Managers of the S. S. Union of the M. E. Church were presented on Friday morning and constituted a deely interesting document. We clip the following from the Delily Adsocate:

Some eighteen months ago there was intrusted to Wells, Fargo & Co., of this city, what purported to be a bar of gold, worth $2.075, for them to forward to New York. They askely delivered it in your city, and thence, through the benne of Lansing, Baidwin & Co., it was expressed to Paris. Sanover & Co., to whom it was addressed, on opening the lines hag that inclosed it found it in once to be a bar of lead, glided, and worth shout a delive. The impression seems to have prevailed that the box consisting he bag had been cividestriedy opened, and on this ground, when Sanover & Co. demanded of Lansing & Co. full payment for the alleged value of the missing gold, the French courts enforced the demand. Then Lansing & Co. came down on Wells, Fargo & Co., and recovered from them. Wells, Fargo & Co. put the matter into the hands of our police.

The lead bar and the lines uvapper were brought bone from Paris, and a microscopic axamination of the lines discovered the fact that it had been but once sewn up—from which the tenue wrident that the lead first started from San Francisco, and that the Irand was practiced act on the voyage, but hare.

"Ager" skys it was circulated at the breathrast table, and that "many were the sly and knowing winks." Of course; but the most important information is not given. Who gave the "aly and knowing winks?" If we knew this, we singht perhaps come to a rough guess at the guilty parties. "One was not to be fooled, and another knew all about it. Knew all about 8, did he? Well, we have to knew why he was not called upon to Only one man seems to have acknowledged that he "knew all about it."

To continue the harative: Doubts were speedily resmored. The Deford was soon made, and while the Spaulding was bearing down upon her. "Ager" held an interview with the negro, for the details of which we refer to his report. The conversation: resumbles most of those which have been held with supposed runaways by gentlemen of the Democratic persussion. Hiocker must have been astonished at "Ager" protound ignorance of slavery. Bleeker declared that he was born free, and that he had nerre been a slave. Whereupon "Ager" asked him why he had not got free papers? He seems to suppose that every free begro in bound to have free papers; and that if a negro is found without them, he is, of course, a fugitive from slavery. "Ager" politicness is akin to his astitishess. How delicately joccas in this "Did you expect to find your master is the prince when we speed against the interest of the country? Of reason, right and justice, what is there to sustain your posicy? He then argued to show the absurdity of the idea that Our gress could clothe its mere agent with power which it did not itself possess. This was allowing the recipient more than the donor had to give. He had heard the idea of non-intervantion in the Senate of the United States, which had been hammered out to embrace boundless regions. He denied that non-intervention, as it was formerly understood, denied all right of Compress to legislate in regard to shavery. At the very time the doctrine was broached, the fugitive slave law was emseted, and legislation taken in regard to slavery in the servicers and in the District of Columbia. He read Mr. Clay's opinions on the subject, to show that he who was the originator of the doctrine never gave it the interpretation claim of by the efforcing of popular sovereignty.

"Did you expect to find your master in the coal-hole?" This was just after the negro had denied having a master. He replied with "a significant grin." Significant of what? Pro-bably of contempt for the interrogater, who was enable him to detect inaccuracies in the negro's story.

But we must not dwell upon this part of the narrative. When the Spaniding found herself within halling distance of the Deford, a signal of distress was housted and guns were fired. Capt Hallett hove to. "He readily guessed our trouble," says "Ager." Ah! he knew the character of the passengers. He had read the Atlian and Ese. Mr. Chäirman—I came here to do all in my power towards getting up a testimonial for John U. Heenan, and I mean to. [Appiames]. But I must say that I regard the great fight, not as a personal affair, but a national contest, and I hope that the blows Heenan gave Sayers will not be the last ones America will give Enginell. [Laughter and applause]. It is very well to give the Champion money; but I propose that out of the money collected, enough be taken to buy an American flag for Heenan himself, with his name inscribed upon it. The Bestish Corm Trade.
(From the Mark Lage Expera, April 22.)

The very cold and wintry weather of the past week has kept all vegetation back, and the surturnal wheat looks more like a January growth than answereble to the advanced paried. Beyond its general hackwardness there is also unch complaint of misplant, in the light as well as the very heavy land. It will now require a brilliant and steady summer to make up for loss time; and as the last crop was deficient the stocks will be tried in proportion to the lateness of harvest. The upward movement has continued throughout the country, a further average advance of 23, per qr. being about tast weak's gain. Foreign arrivals having improved, the week cloud calm; but the stocks of fine quality in London were getting low, say down to 50,000 or 50,000 qrs. There is therefore, ample room for further accessions without a burdened market. The secondary and lower worts are not over burdened, and with the lateries, will all be wanted for mixing, or a country demond. As the same unseasonable weather has been experienced in Southern Europe and Northern Africa, the demand for Napies and Portugal seems likely to be unusually prelonged. These countries continue to excite the sources of supply, Odessa, the Dannhe, and Algeria all showing an active business at ad vanged rates. The demand for Ireland, and frast bere, have also given an altered that the sources of supply, Odessa, the Dannhe, and Algeria all showing an active business at a disposed rate of the sources of supply, Odessa, the Dannhe, and Algeria all showing are active business at a shere of the sources, the low countries, and Baltic all showing impreved quotations, not only for wheat, but other grains. Much must benefer the pear of the continuation of the weather; and, should it change to fine, a disposition to realize may check the upward tendency. Skill wheat is yet at a smoderate price, and only on a party with the quotations of New Tork, freight and charges included, there seems no prospect of a return to the last low prices.
